

Rana Jewell
Beneath the Surface
p: 07) 3351 4689
e: ranajewell@beneaththesurface.com.au
w: beneaththesurface.com.au

PRESS RELEASE
for immediate release

The Bellydancing Brisbane Accountant

Brisbane, Australia, 17 September 2007

Traditional professions have been hit by a new wave of people moving through the ranks. Accountants have been the butt of jokes for years about a lack of personality, bean counters and an ongoing fascination for pocket protectors. The new breed of accountants not only have personality, they also have a life and a sense of humour.

Rana Jewell is typical of the new breed of accountant. She is a qualified scuba diving instructor and bellydances professionally on her days off from running her accounting and taxation practice. "I can't remember the last time I wore a suit jacket" Rana said this week. "I believe in living a rich, balanced and full life in all aspects. My bellydancing helps to keep me fit and is a lot of fun in the process".

But don't think the new breed of accountants are not as technically skilled as traditional accountants.

The new breed of accountants are just as passionate about ongoing professional development and growth, as they are with balancing their lives. Rana is a Divisional Councillor for the National Institute of Accountants (Qld Branch) and founding convenor for the North-West Forum of accountants in the Northwest area of Brisbane.

Rana has just completed a Masters of Counselling, with her thesis "Can a Saver and a Spender live in Harmony?" and is currently removing the academic stuffing from her thesis to create a book for couples who are experiencing some difficulties from their different financial styles.

Rana specialises in accounting and taxation for professional service businesses and investors. "I have found that the Pine Rivers and Brisbane Shires are full of successful business women growing profitable businesses. It is fantastic working with them" said Rana.

If you would like more information or photos about this topic or want to schedule Rana Jewell for an interview, please contact Rana at 0408 510 001. Rana will be dancing at 11.15 am on Sunday 14 October 2007 at the Zonta Pine Rivers Women in Business Expo.